UPDATE: Mr. Lee has been found safe and unharmed Police seek public's help to locate missing Fulton man

Howard County police are asking for the public's help to locate a missing man from Fulton.

Kevin Chongo Lee, 36, was last seen in the area of Brown Bridge Road at the county line after being dropped off by a family member at approximately 6:45 p.m. yesterday.

Police are concerned for his welfare following statements he made to family, who are no longer able to reach him. Officers checked the area on foot and by helicopter overnight and were unable to locate Lee.

Mr. Lee is described as an Asian male, six feet one inch tall, 180 pounds with a medium build, black hair and brown eyes. He was last seen wearing a green t-shirt, jeans, tennis shoes, and a dark-colored baseball hat. Mr. Lee has tattoos of a dragon on his upper arm and praying hands on his shoulder.

Anyone who has seen Kevin Chongo Lee should call 911.
