Police investigating shooting in Columbia

Howard County police are investigating a shooting in Columbia on Friday night in which a woman was struck in a residence.

At approximately 11 p.m., police responded to the 6600 block of Dovecote Drive for a report of several shots fired. Police discovered that multiple bullets entered a residence from outside, striking an adult female victim. She was transported to University of Maryland Shock Trauma Center with critical injuries.

Police do not yet have any suspect information. Anyone with information is asked to call 911.
