Laurel man arrested on drug, firearm charges

Howard County Police have arrested a Laurel man on drug and firearm charges after police received information that he was selling cocaine and heroin.

James E. Goldsberry, 33, of Covered Wagon Drive in Laurel, has been charged with drug possession with intent to distribute, illegal possession of firearms and related charges.

After receiving information that Goldsberry was selling cocaine and heroin, police executed a search warrant at his residence early this week and recovered suspected crack cocaine, suspected heroin, drug paraphernalia including baggies and a scale, multiple handguns, and ammunition.

Goldsberry was at home when the warrant was served and was taken into custody. He is being held without bond at the Howard County Detention Center.
