Elementary School Poster Contest

My poster means that black and white people are coming together to make a difference. They have big dreams to change the world and make it a better place. They want to stop the war. They want to stop violence around the world. They want to end segregation laws in other countries. They want to keep moving. My poster means that having diversity in the world is a wonderful thing. It means people coming together to make a community. People around the world have a dream to come together and be together even if they are different skin tones. My poster means that there should be no more violence, war, and segregation in the world and that each and every human on earth should come together, even if they are different skin tones.
