Police seek public's help in identifying man and woman in Columbia double stabbing

A reward of up to $5,000 offered for information

Police are offering a reward of up to $5,000 for help identifying the man and woman seen in a video in a Dec. 25 double stabbing in the 10700 block of Hickory Ridge Road in Columbia. One man was killed and another was injured.

The man and woman are seen in the parking lot of the Trellis Center convenience store walking from a maroon Jeep and entering the store together. Police believe the man then became involved in an unknown altercation with the two victims inside the store, stabbing both before leaving with the woman. Both victims were transported to University of Maryland Shock Trauma Center, where 23-year-old James Fallin Jr. of Columbia was pronounced dead. Warner Jackson, 22, of Columbia, was treated and released.

The man is described a black male with a stocky build, wearing a denim jacket with black sleeves and black pants. The woman is described as a black female with long pink curly hair, wearing a green jacket with black pants and holding a white purse.
