Police investigating after human remains found in Columbia

Howard County police are investigating after a landscape worker discovered human skeletal remains in a wooded area in Columbia.

Officers were called to the 12200 block of Green Meadow Drive at approximately 3:14 p.m. yesterday and were able to confirm the remains were human. The remains were transported to the Office of the Chief Medical Examiner for autopsy.

No additional information, including the identity of the deceased, or indication of how long the remains have been there, are known at this time. The investigation is ongoing.
