January 28, 2026

ArcGIS Online Map Widget

This map represents the primary map view window for the Zoning Use Informational Map (Map). By default, no filters or selections are applied, and all zones are displayed when the Map is opened. The zones displayed are effected by the Zoning Filter & MuniCode panel and the Use Filters but the widget can also be modified using the series of buttons found in the upper right-corner.

A- Collapse/Expand: Show and hide buttons B:E

B- Layers: Display and hide layers and legends

C- Basemap: Change the basemap displayed beneath the layers

D- Selection Tool: Select zones from the map display using various selection methods. When a zone or zones are selected, the Zoning Filter & MuniCode list will correspondingly filter to reflect the selection.

E- Search: Input address to zoom to location

Applicable Zoning

This is the primary tabular view for the Map, as it displays qualifying zones and provides a link to their respective MuniCode (zoning ordinance library) entries based on the active Use Filters, the map widget selection, or the Zoning Filter itself.

The Applicable Zoning list itself is a filter. Select one of the zones listed and the map view will isolate and display only the selected zone, and the filter list will display only the zone and its MuniCode links. In the below image, B-2-TNC is selected, which highlights the zone in the Applicable Zoning list and displays only this zone in the map.

Next to each zone in the Applicable Zoning list are one to three hyperlink icons 🔗. These icons link to the MuniCode entry for the zoning code ordinance. Zones with overlays as well as base zoning will have two or three links total, each one linking to a different code segment. For example, CAC-CLI-CR will have three links, one for CAC, one for CLI, and another for CR.

Use Filters

The Use Filters are divided into three tables, Permitted, Conditional, and Accessory. These designations correlate to the uses being allowed by right (permitted), under certain conditions (conditional), or only as a secondary (accessory) use.

Checking off a box in any of these use filters will in turn filter the Applicable Zoning list, the map zones displayed, and the other use tables. To clear the filters and return to the full map extent, uncheck the checked boxes.

Each filter is searchable via text.  Search Simply begin typing in keywords to begin filtering the use list to results containing only the included text.

Hover the cursor over longer named uses to see the full label.

Report Navigation

Use the backwards and forward arrows at the bottom of the report  to switch between the Map display and Use Table display.
