Military-Connected

Educational and Behavioral Health Resources

Military kids face unique stresses and challenges—from frequent moves to parent deployments—that can place them at greater risk for academic struggles. Studies show that educators who understand these issues can create a welcoming environment for these students. Below is a list of resources for you to assist your military-connected students and their families.

FOR EDUCATORS

Department of Defense Education Activity - The Department of Defense Educational Partnership Directorate has launched a new website focused on providing information that directly relates to the work of educators and administrators in military connected school systems.
