

Additional Duct Work Requiring a Mechanical Permit

Beginning January 25, 2021 mechanical extensions to additions, finished basements or alterations to an existing system will require a mechanical permit and inspections.

All newly installed heating or cooling ducts and exhaust duct will be installed per the 2018 International Residential Code and the 2018 International Energy Code.

Drawings must accompany the permit application as well as a signed affidavit from master license holder that the existing system has been calculated for the additional load and it will adequately supply heating and cooling.

A manual J will not be required for an alteration or addition permit.
