It is my pleasure to present to you the annual report for fiscal year 2014. When I look at all this department has accomplished in the last year, I am amazed at the hard work of all of our employees. Without the passion from our full-time and part-time staff and our seasonal contingent staff, none of what we do would be possible. Every day I see their eagerness to make Howard County a better place live and play.

Our parks continue to draw in visitors around the country for different events, and I am always humbled by the feedback we receive. So much goes into creating a great experience, from the wonderful park maintenance crew’s daily upkeep to the tireless work of our Park Rangers to ensure a safe visit. Our programs -- preschool to older adults, cooking to basketball -- are led by knowledgeable and well-trained staff, and their enthusiasm keeps participants coming back. The smiles I see in so many photos let me know that we’re doing our job in providing the best leisure activities for all ages and interests.

The staff at our three community centers makes their buildings comfortable and safe meeting places for all ages. Beyond their day-to-day operations, they have opened their doors for those displaced or distressed during weather events. They understand the true meaning of “community.”

I am equally proud of the work our natural resources team does to keep our environment healthy and to ensure it remains that way for generations. Their innovative outreach programs impart their knowledge to the community so we can all take part in keeping Howard County beautiful.

Last but not least, the vision and foresight of our capital projects division never ceases to impress me. Howard County and the needs of its residents are evolving rapidly. It is imperative that we stay ahead of the curve in providing the necessary amenities to accommodate what’s next, and that’s exactly what they have done year after year.

Finally, I want to thank all who have taken a walk in our parks, enrolled in a program, watched fireworks on the lake, or sipped wine in the woods. Your participation and support is what keeps us going.

Sincerely,

John R. Byrd

Howard County Recreation and Parks is accredited through the Commission for Accreditation of Park and Recreation Agencies (CAPRA). To achieve accreditation, the Department was required to meet 144 standards encompassing all operations contained in leisure services. These professional standards serve as an aid for improving performance and maintaining quality. They provide park and recreation agencies with an ability to evaluate their operation, while achieving and maintaining a level of efficiency and effectiveness. Howard County Recreation and Parks achieved accreditation in 2001 and re-accreditation in 2006 and 2012. Howard County Recreation and Parks is one of only 102 accredited agencies in the United States.

CAPRA recognizes park and recreation agencies for excellence in operation and service. Charged with providing high quality services and experiences, park and recreation agencies across the United States turn to CAPRA Accreditation as a credible and efficient means of achieving these goals, while providing assurance to the public that the agency meets national standards of best practice. CAPRA accredits departments and agencies that provide park and recreation programs and services.

Marketing

After centralizing all marketing in fiscal year 2013, the marketing group has continued to expand as it takes on more roles within the department. It still produces the four major activity guides, which in FY2014 were the largest they have ever been. Additionally, the marketing group has created more than 200 fliers, supplementals, trifolds, and other printed material.

The department’s social media presence continued to grow. It picked up more than 1,500 Facebook likes, more than 500 Twitter followers and expanded its presence on Flickr and Pinterest. The photos on the flickr site -- more than 2,000, nearly all taken by the marketing staff -- have garnered close to 420,000 views.

The marketing group has also branched out to creating park signage and is beginning a redesign of park kiosks. Additionally, it has played a role in the process of securing sponsorships for county parks and facilities.
Howard County Department of Recreation & Parks, Columbia Association and Wegmans store in Columbia teamed up to introduce Howard County's Nature Quest and the Wegmans Passport to Family Wellness, an initiative to encourage usage of the county's excellent trail network.

HCRP and CA offered free giveaways to those who walk all eight of their respective trails. For those who walk six trails, Wegmans will offer a coupon for a free towards a Wegmans product. Participants who walked all 16 trails were entered into a raffle for a $100 Wegmans Gift Card or a Gift Certificate from HCRP or CA.

First developed by Wegmans in 2005, the Passport to Family Wellness is a pocket-sized booklet that guides participants through 16 trails in the county -- eight managed by HCRP and eight managed by CA. Participants record their progress by making a rubbing in their passport of a trail marker located at a designated point on each trail.

Program Open Space

Grants from the Maryland Department of Natural Resources’ Program Open Space continue to be vital to the maintenance, expansion and continued prosperity of the parks in Howard County. More than 20 parks and facilities were made possible through funds allocated by Program Open Space, including the newly opened Troy Park. The County purchased 80 of the 101 acres for the park with $2.1 million from the program.

Schooley Mill Cricket Pitch

The county’s only cricket pitch opened in Schooley Mill Park. It involved re-grading two existing fields to a single level and other necessary facility and infrastructure improvements including sidewalks and drainage solutions for storm water management. In September, Schooley Mill hosted its first Cricket League Championship. The team from Johns Hopkins defeated the team from UMBC.
As part of a continued effort to upgrade the county’s amenities, the construction division managed the installation of new playgrounds at Atholton (pictured) and Cedar Villa Heights Parks. At Atholton Park, the larger playground was replaced and a swing area, including an accessible swing bay, was installed. At Cedar Villa Heights Park, a larger swing area and updated equipment replaced the old playgrounds. At both parks, a bonded rubber safety surface replaced the engineered wood fiber surface.
Howard County Recreation & Parks hosted the Celebration of Partners in Parks at Belmont Manor and Historic Park on November 2 to recognize more than 60 volunteer organizations that strive to protect, preserve, and enhance the natural, cultural, historical, and overall park environment through sustainable practices and stewardship. PROGRAMS AND OUTREACH

As part of the ongoing efforts to stem the effects of pollution and invasive species in the Middle Patuxent Environmental Area, the Natural Resources Division began the Weed Warrior Program, offering volunteer hours and coupons to participants.

Meanwhile, Park Rangers created awareness of two issues in parks through infographic campaigns. A poster was created encouraging park-goers to clean up after their pets and the consequences to the environment of leaving waste. The second poster education the public on tick-borne diseases and how to remove a tick from the skin.

Construction began on Phase I of the park project to include the installation of two age-specific playgrounds – ages 2-5 and 2-12 – situated on a rubberized surface; a 32-by-36-foot picnic pavilion; retaining walls around the play area and an Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) compliant parking lot with a path. Phase I also involved the removal of a historic water tower that sat on the property. Construction was completed in summer 2014.

Howard County Executive Ken Ulman, Recreation & Parks Director John R. Byrd and other local officials officially launched construction of the new Troy Park at Elkridge in a ground breaking ceremony June 21 near what will be the new entrance to the park. The planned Troy Park will serve the far Eastern region of Howard County surrounding Elkridge with multiple ball fields, pavilions, playgrounds, trails and an indoor sports facility and community center.
